THIRTY-FIVE YEARS OF SUPERIOR BOOKS

It has been said that books are the genes which pass societies' values, traits and customs to coming generations. Since 1945, Superior Publishing has continually added to this gene pool with its unique Americana books. We are constantly searching for notable collections of historic photographs and relating texts for future publications.

The use of quality materials and expert craftsmanship have always been a priority with our publications. The costs of these components have risen dramatically, but Superior books continue to be an excellent value. In 20 years the retail price of our books have increased less than 3% per year!

History is, all too often, presented as a boring compilation of facts and dates. Superior has strived to organize its pictorial histories into lively, entertaining reading. Although our books are designed for the general public, historians and researchers find them to be valuable source material. It is my hope that the readers of Superior books will gain a better understanding of history and how it relates to contemporary society. To sum it up in the words of my Publisher/Father Albert P. Salisbury, "To read, to keep, to give and above all to enjoy, that's what Superior books are all about."

LAKE WASHINGTON STORY

by Lucile McDonald

The Lake Washington Story is that of the 34 square miles of fresh water that form Seattle's eastern border. Formed by glaciers long ago, it boasts three sunken forests, is spanned by two history-making floating bridges, and leads to a canal with locks as impressive as those of the Panama Canal. An interesting account of how the lake affected the lives of Indians, homesteaders, coal miners, loggers, railroaders and shipbuilders, from the 1800s to present day. Many photos.

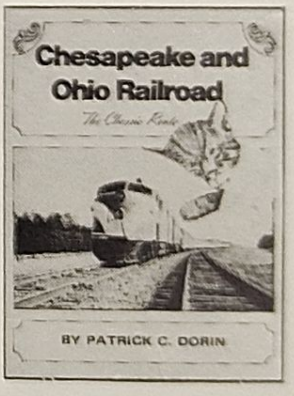
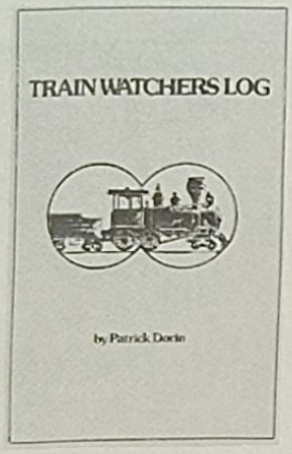
THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY
George Washington's Railroad
by Patrick C. Dorin



This pictorial history chronicles the story of the C&O from its very beginning, founded by George Washington in 1785 and then called the James River Navigation Company, to present day. The author's definitive text and over 450 photographs make this the only complete work available on the Chessie Route. Included are timetables, rolling stock, and motive power rosters, dating from 1930.

537-2 $24.95



THE TRAIN WATCHER'S LOG

by Patrick C. Dorin

This pocket log is designed to aid rail fans, students and photographers in recording activities along the "high iron." It is a handy systematic way of "keeping track" of trains, motive power, cabooses, rolling stock, and all other locomotive observances in the field. Patterned after the logs once provided by the railroad unions, it is a must for all serious rail buffs. Paperback.

WESTWARD TO ALKI

The Story of David and Louisa Denny

By Gordon Newell

Of all the pioneers who founded Seattle, probably the least known — and one of the most delightful — was David Denny, a man of uncommon dedication and integrity. Here is the full story of his life and contributions to the Northwest's major city; and those of his lovely, resourceful wife, Louisa Boren Denny. Delightful reading, by a talented historical writer. Over 100 rare photos.

WHEN TIMBER STOOD TALL

by Joseph H. Pierre

Only a logger born and bred could write this picture of western logging, so real you can feel the tough leather rigging gloves, the tight caulk boots, the stiffness of "tin" pants, the leaden weight of a wire-rope choker. The loggers had two things in mind: get the logs and stay alive. Pierre salts his text on the techniques with hundreds of anecdotes about men who daily were aware of death awaiting the careless or the unlucky. Includes a glossary of logging terms.

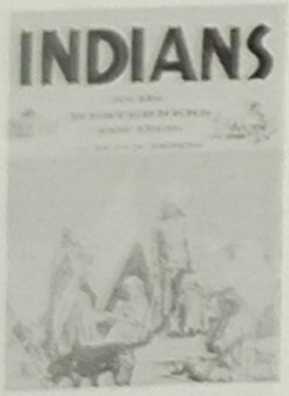
CURTIS' WESTERN INDIANS

by Ralph W. Andrews

Long acclaimed by art critics and authorities on Indian culture as the finest portrayer of Western tribes, Edward S. Curtis can now take his rightful place on library shelves across the nation. Using early-day camera equipment, he spent his life as friend and photographer of Apache, Navajo and other plains people as well as of Northwest Coast tribes. The author treats Curtis' singular life with dramatic verve, tells of Theodore Roosevelt's patronage and recognition by the Morgan Foundation. Over 200 of Edward Curtis' best works are reproduced — true to life masterpieces of the Indians as they actually lived.

336-1 $9.95



INDIANS
As the Westerners Saw Them

by Ralph W. Andrews

Old manuscripts and photographs reveal experiences of pioneers, settlers, traders, teamsters and Army wives with the Indians of the great plains. Heady stuff for those who like to delve into the hidden mysteries of the past. Author Andrews cuts the rawhide lacings of dusty packets and crumbling cottonwood cases to bring you material straight from the heart of Western life.

311-6 $9.95

THE LITTLE SHADOW CATCHER
The Life and Times of D.F. Barry

By Thomas M. Heski

In 30 years of touring the great plains in the late 1800s, David Frances Barry photographed hundreds of soldiers, citizens, towns, forts . . . and Indians. His collection of Chief Gall, Rain-in-the-Face, Sitting Bull and others made his fame. This fully researched volume — less a biography than a slice of history — tells everything known about Barry himself, and presents hundreds of photos from his collection, many never before published.

808-8 $15.95

OLD FORTS OF THE NORTHWEST
by Herbert M. Hart

With a fine sense of thrust and skirmish, Hart recalls the roar of artillery and bloody battles in this tour of historic western forts and military posts. Specially drawn plats show layout of the forts, directions tell how to get there, photos display how they look today, and how they once were.

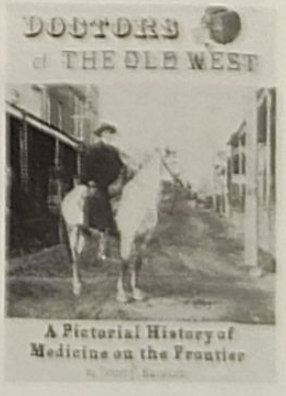
314-0 $9.95

OLD FORTS OF THE SOUTHWEST
by Herbert M. Hart

Author Hart's second in the greatest series of old U.S. forts, from Kansas to California. Heroes and legends by the hundreds spring up as cavalry and artillery regiments advance civilization to the West. More than 200 photographs of over 60 old army forts then and now, with maps and plates.

315-9 $9.95

DOCTORS OF THE OLD WEST
by Robert F. Karolevitz



From medicine men to men of medicine, this book tells the story in word and picture of the first doctors, military surgeons, railroad surgeons, the sod house horse-and-buggy doctors; early hospitals, drug stores and health spas; the strange drugs and concoctions administered by frontier physicians and the archaic instruments they used to battle epidemics, remove Indian arrowheads and patch up gunshot victims. Rare old photographs that tell of western medicine from the start.

301-9 $9.95

THIS WAS TRUCKING

by Robert F. Karolevitz

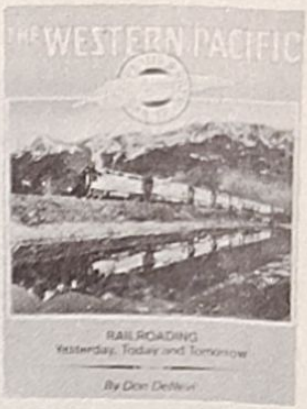
WESTERN PACIFIC
Railroading Then, Now and Tomorrow
by Don DeNevi



Here is the definitive pictorial history of the Western Pacific, the line which linked the vastness of the southwest and became famous for such trains as the California Zephyr. This well told tale is fully researched and includes an extensive collection of historic photos. A highlight is a portfolio of sensitive photos by famed rail photographer Ted Benson.

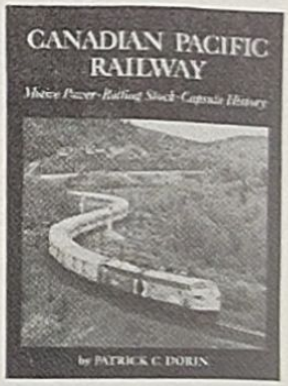
530-5 $15.95

LOGGING RAILROADS OF THE WEST
by Kramer Adams

Astonishing glimpses down the mail lines, yarding spurs and incline steel into the old logging days when "coffee grinders" and "knothole centrals" made history and lives were worth little more than logs. Added to newly researched details of early engine types is a complete roster of western logging railroads.

509-7 $9.95

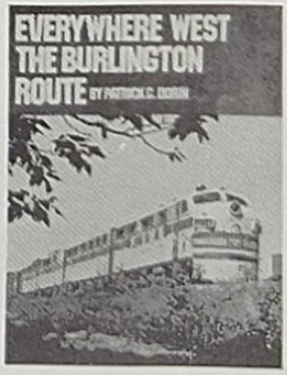
CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY
by Patrick Dorin



More than 200 photos of motive power and rolling stock, a capsule history of the line, chapters on passenger and freight service, mixed trains, the Soo Line, Duluth and Southshore and other subsidiaries. The appendix is a roster of motive power. This book will give the reader an understanding of the length and scope and unique personality of this mighty railroad to the north.

520-8 $19.95

EVERYWHERE WEST:
THE BURLINGTON ROUTE
by Patrick C. Dorin



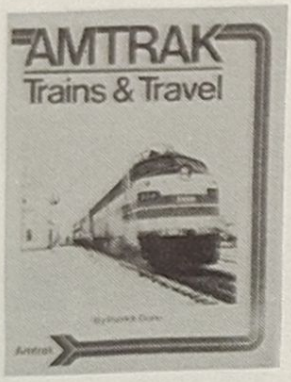
A plain-spoken work for the real rail fan. Here's the story of the famous Burlington, from the early days to today's giant BN system. Come ride the Zephyrs and other stars of the passenger routes; stock trains, ore trains, mail trains, streamliners, freights, gas-electrics and mixed trains. Loaded with illustrations of trains and trainmen.

523-2 $19.95

TRAGIC TRAIN
"The City of San Francisco"
by Don DeNevi

The pride of the Southern Pacific, this streamliner combined flashing speed with ultra-modern luxury. Everything about the train was unusual and special — including her mysterious destruction by sabotage only 18 months after her inaugural run on January 2, 1938. Told here for the first time is the story of that train and her tragic end, a mystery still unsolved. Authentic, thrilling rail history. More than 200 photos and exhibits from the Southern Pacific's private files.

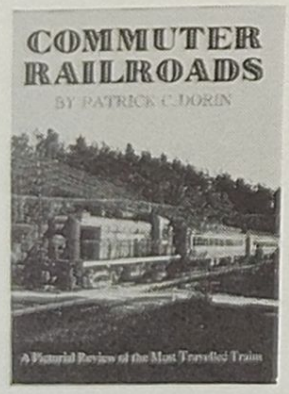
525-9 $19.95



AMTRAK
Trains and Travel
by Patrick C. Dorin

A spirited account of the system born out of the Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970 — AMTRAK, its successes, failures and clouded future. Dorin tackles the economics of passenger rail travel exemplified by AMTRAK, and tells of the system's formation, rolling stock, motive power and accommodations. Hundreds of photos show the types of cars in service and the locomotives inherited by AMTRAK.

533-X $19.95



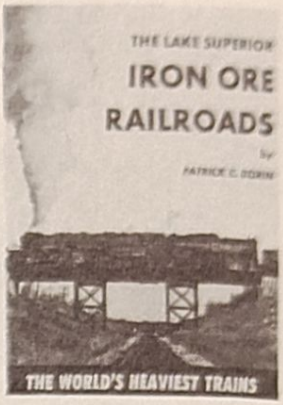
COMMUTER RAILROADS
by Patrick C. Dorin

A pictorial review of the world's most travelled trains. 357 photos, 30 route maps, 7 charts, appendix and a summary of suburban railroads. For rail buffs, railroad executives, students of transportation, city and government officials and for all who have ever ridden them, this will be a nostalgic trip over the steel rails.

507-0 $9.95

THE LAKE SUPERIOR IRON ORE RAILROADS

by Patrick C. Dorin



How the great rail lines of North America unite to bear the nation's iron ore; the complete story, in prose and pictures. Here are the Great Northern, Milwaukee Road, Northern Pacific, Soo, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Canadian National, Chicago & Northwestern, Duluth & Missabe & Iron Range, Lake Superior & Ishpeming . . . the world's heaviest locomotives, hauling the world's heaviest trains.

501-1 $9.95

MILWAUKEE ROAD EAST

by Patrick C. Dorin

This best-selling rail historian turns his talents to a review of the Milwaukee's trains, traffic and passenger travel on the lines east of Harlowton, Montana, from 1920 to 1970. Here are the passenger, mail and gas-electric trains, the domeliners, the great 'Hiawatha' and commuter fleets, the midwest freight service, heavy coal and ore trains. Over 200 rail photos, time-tables and other memorabilia.

528-3 T.O.S. $19.95

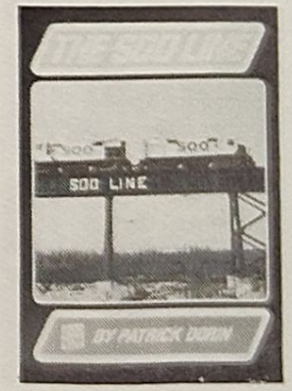
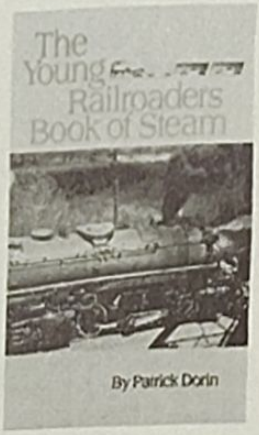
THE SOO LINE

by Patrick C. Dorin



A detailed pictorial look at Soo trains and service, from the late 1930s to the 1970s; from early steam, through dieselization in 1955, to today's Amtrak routes. Includes the most famous trains — the Laker, the Winipegger, the Soo-Dominion, the Mountaineer — in complete detail with hundreds of photos.

532-1 $19.95



THE YOUNG RAILROADER'S BOOK OF STEAM

by Patrick Dorin

Bound to create a whole new generation of rail fans. Here are pictures and descriptions of the different types of steam locomotives used by North American railroads — what they were used for, how they are identified, by wheel arrangement and name, using the Whyte system. More than 50 photos.

527-5 T.O.S. $2.95

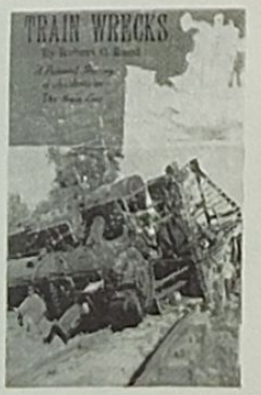
RAILS TO PITTSBURGH

by W. A. Feibelman

An amazing collection of photos, covering late steam, early diesel, and electrics in the Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania area, from 1948 to 1968. Here's the heart of our rail system — the Pennsylvania, the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Union Railroad, and many others. Tons of photos of trains in action.

531-3 $19.95



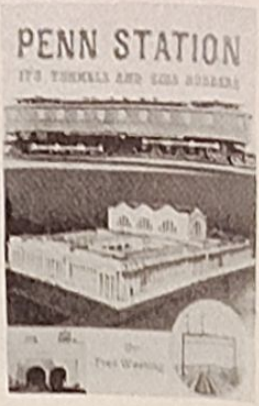
TRAIN WRECKS

by Robert C. Reed

An absorbing story of wrecks on the right-of-way that brought on horror articles, songs and scare sketches, frightening travellers everywhere. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who hated railroads after almost losing his life in a wreck, lived to dominate the scene. Many illustrations.

506-2 $9.95

PENN STATION
Its Tunnels and Side Rodders
by Fred Westing



Complete descriptions and photos on the types and classes of the Pennsy's side-rod drive electric locomotives, and a complete facsimile reprint of the rare 1912 book "History of the Engineering, Construction and Equipment of the Pennsylvania Railroad's New York Terminal." Now a federal landmark, Penn Station fascinates rail buffs and historians alike. Over 250 photos and architectural drawings.

529-1 $19.95

PENNSY STEAM AND SEMAPHORES
by Fred Westing

The author has put together a great collection of over 300 photos and text that tells of the "Pennsy" as the last century ended. He tells about a cab ride, experiments and changes, facts and figures, signals and safety, freight trains and passenger trains, and famous and interesting personalities, among them Martin Lee and Oliver P. Keller.

518-6 $19.95

by Jim Gibbs

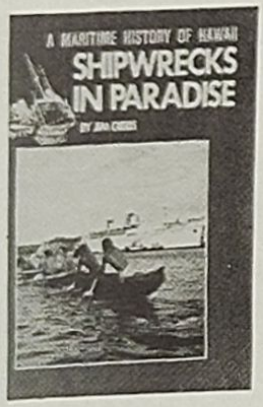
Thrilling stories of the sea, combined with hundreds of rare and beautiful photographs of the wind ships. Includes builder's plans of many of these magnificent craft, plus pages out of ancient log books. Appendix lists nearly all the wind ships that plied the Pacific, including their rigging, tonnage, builder and final fate.

205-5 $9.95



SHIPWRECKS IN PARADISE
A Maritime History of Hawaii

by Jim Gibbs

Gibbs tells of the triumphs and tragedies of the sea around the Hawaiian Islands in fascinating detail. Contains geological information about the islands' creation, chronicles the escapades of early explorers, and tries to determine just when the islands were discovered, which could have been as early as 600 A.D. Many photos.

219-5 $13.95

WEST COAST WINDJAMMERS

by Jim Gibbs

Editor of the Marine Digest, Gibbs has researched the history of ships and the men who sailed them. A story written with feeling of the musty fo'c'sles, the creak and groan of blocks, wind in the rigging and chanties sung around the capstan. A comprehensive appendix of names of the windjammers built on the West Coast, the builders, dates, places, riggings, tonnage and final fates. With 300 photographs.

207-1 $9.95

CALIFORNIA SHIPWRECKS Footsteps in the Sea
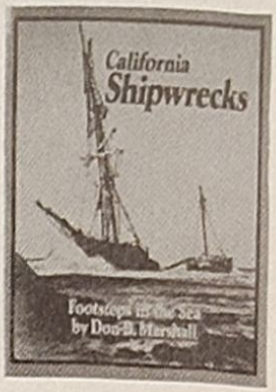
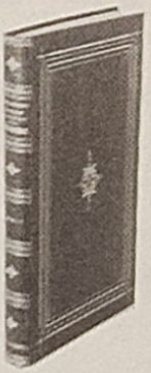
by Don B. Marshall



From the earliest recorded shipwreck off the California coast (the Spanish vessel 'San Augustin' in 1579) through the scores of historic vessels going down off this rugged coast in the 400 years since, Marshall chronicles with fascinating prose and photos the disasters which intrigue maritime buffs. Coastal descriptions are included for those who care to visit the sites, by road or by sea.

223-3 $17.95

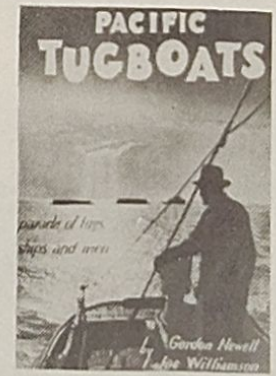
THE H.W. McCURDY MARINE HISTORY OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST — 1966-1976
by Gordon Newell



This is the eagerly awaited third volume, covering the busiest, most productive and change-filled years in Pacific Northwest maritime affairs. Fully illustrated with many photographs. (Both photos and text have been screened for accuracy by a distinguished board of maritime experts.) Binding, page size and stock match the previous two volumes to compose a priceless set. Slipcased.

220-9 $100.00

PACIFIC TUGBOATS
by Gordon Newell and Joe Williamson



Between the stout covers of this book lies the story of stout ships — the strong right arms of the merchant fleet. Every Pacific port knows these gallant work boats by sight but not always by exploit. Here are fifty years of nostalgic drama and color in tugboat operation on Pacific waters, told by the skillful and accurate prose of Gordon Newell and illustrated with the best and rarest of the photos from the vast Williamson collection.

221-7 T.O.S. $9.95

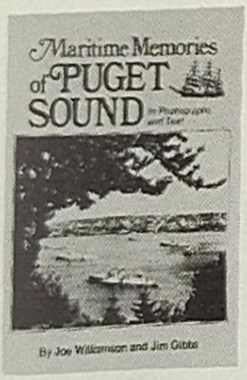
FERRYBOATS ON THE COLUMBIA

by Robert H. Ruby and John A. Brown

Includes 260 photos of Columbia Ferry crossings from the river's mouth to its head waters. Photos and carefully researched text tell the story of the dams and bridges which cross the great river of the West. Type of boats, ferrymen, bridge builders, troubles and the fights that make up the history of the Columbia River crossings make an exciting story.

616-6 $17.95



MARITIME MEMORIES OF PUGET SOUND

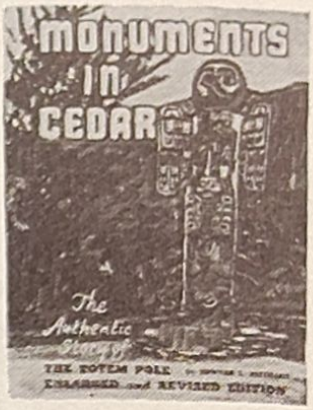
by Joe Williamson and Jim Gibbs

Here's great nostalgia — a book loaded with reminders for those who remember the Sound as it was, and a wonderful historical document for those who don't. Joe Williamson, famed for fine photography, has collaborated with writer Gibbs on this wistful tour of the old days on Puget Sound. Freighters, tugs, waterfronts, ferries, gold rush frenzy — all the elements that made life vivid in those times.

219-5 $17.95

Alaska

MONUMENTS IN CEDAR
by Edward L. Keithahn



Shrouded in mystery and misconception the totem pole has long been little beyond a symbol of Alaska and the far North, but here is a book that changes that. Keithahn presents the totem pole as something the Indians made a part of their life, folklore and tradition, revealing an absorbing and fascinating story. Lots of illustrations, many in color.

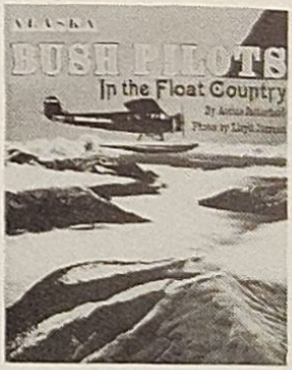
854-1 $9.95

AN ALBUM OF ALASKAN WILDFLOWERS
by Jeanne Laurence

Jeanne Laurence, wife of Sydney Laurence and a fine artist in her own right, here presents 110 of her paintings in full color. Each has the description of the flowers in Jeanne's own beautiful script.

011-7 $50.00

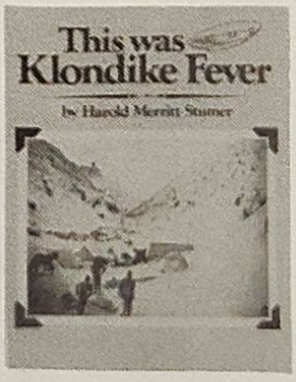
ALASKA BUSH PILOTS
by Archie Satterfield and Lloyd Jarman



They "flew by the seat of their pants," but they weren't heroes, they weren't merely pilots rescuing shipwrecked survivors to get publicity, they weren't hot-eyed daredevils taking off on suicide flights. They were a breed blessed with skill and bravery nerved to meet the challenge. They were tough, determined and hungry, those young pioneers over Alaska's float country, and they are presented here among the tales of their fine achievements.

852-5 $9.95

THIS WAS KLONDIKE FEVER
by Harold Merritt Stumer



A rare northern treasure — photos of Gold Rush days from the author's personal collection and from a seldom-seen 19th century book, a complete facsimile reprint of "The Great River of Alaska; Exploring the Upper Yukon," by Lieutenant Schatka, published by Century Magazine in 1885 and illustrated with hand-cut engravings. The author's charming tale of his own Alaska and Northwest experiences.

860-6 $15.95

THE HOMESTEAD COOKBOOK

By Virginia Paul

An illustrated collection of recipes, remedies and reminders, a nostalgic, interesting collection of early day "receipts" for the homely arts. How homesteaders made their yeast, concocted soap, preserved meats, churned butter, made cheese. Fully illustrated with rare old photographs. An amusing trip into the past for today's homemakers. Paperback.
